

A FEMALE ASTROLOGER.

SHE SAYS THE EX-QUEEN IS RELIGIOUS.

A Certificate of Character From an Unexpected Source—German Studies of Fallen Majesty.

Not long ago one of the royalist organs said that Honolulu had a female white kahuna and intimated, that, as she worked the horoscopes of the anti-royalist people, the least said about the "Queen's" kahuna the better for consistency. Inquiry developed the fact that the woman's name is Wolf and that she dresses hair for the "Queen" and the public, and makes an extra dollar as a fortune teller, a teacher of languages—also to the ex-Sovereign, and a draper of the human form divine. Miss Wolf lives on Beretania street opposite the rear of the hotel. She is a good looking blonde and speaks like a person who has seen a great deal of the world. Amusingly enough instead of being a Provisional sorcerer as the astute organ of the busted monarchy would have the public infer, she turns out to be one of Lulu's oaks and most intimate friends and companions and a staunch defender of her ex-Majesty from all forms of criticism and attack.

When the STAR reporter called upon Miss Wolf, he found her angry.

"There are spies continually parading before my house," said she, "and I know I am the object of suspicion. If people come to see me, I trust it is my own business; and, as to fortune-telling, why, of course I do that, and I trust have not been less successful than the average. But as for the Queen asking for my advice, outside of my lessons to her in German, it is simply absurd. I see the Queen every day—sometimes twice a day—and on evenings I read to her when she is weary and tired so she cannot sleep."

"Ah, Miss Wolf," the Queen has said to me, "if you only knew how I am worried over these continued attacks of the press on my character as a religious woman. How is it that there are many who still persist in sending me kahuna in spite of my denials that I believe in them? Yes," continued the fortune-teller, "the Queen is a truly religious woman. She does not go to church; no, indeed, there are too many hypocrites there who have besmirched her character and betrayed her confidence, but at home she indulges in daily secret prayer and is a firm believer in a religion of the most orthodox sort."

"But haven't you told her fortune once?" queried the reporter.

"The Queen does not believe in it, I tell you; she does not believe in it."

"But people say you do."

"I do not care what they say, I do not tell the Queen's fortunes; and while I tell others it is no one's business but my own. About the Queen's knowledge of German, she is not, as a paper claimed some time ago, a fluent speaker, yet she can converse wonderfully well, considering the short time she has been studying. Some say," and the fortune-teller rattled on, "that she has some connection with the daily Holomani. That's another wrong story, and she suffers greatly in mind from this accusation. She told me lately that she was still Queen, that she had never abdicated, and that she knew she would be replaced by Mr. Blount."

"Say, Miss Wolf," broke in the reporter, seeing that she was getting away from the subject, "Isn't it odd that the ex-Queen, if she wanted to get away from the native kahuna and retire to secret prayer, should have hired a white fortune teller?"

That ended the interview, as Miss Wolf intimated sharply that she had business elsewhere.

A NEW INDUSTRY.

Manilla Rope Plants to be Tested on the Islands.

The Board of Agriculture met this afternoon and especially considered the enforcement of the law against blight. The Board consists of Minister King, Chairman, Allen Herbert, W. G. Irwin, A. Jaeger and John E. G. Commissioner Marsden is now propagating the Manilla banana plant from which the fibre used in making Manilla rope is obtained. In the course of time he hopes to see the plant growing all over the islands. This plant is especially suited for growing on small plots of land and will open a new industry, rope making, on the islands.

SAN SOUCI HOTEL.

An Excellent Place of Seaside Resort at Waikiki.

Under the management of George Lycurgus, the Herbert Villa at Waikiki, now known as the Hotel San Souci, has become a very popular resort. Its table has been greatly improved, and this, with the spacious grounds, the boating, fishing, canoeing, picnicking, dancing and the like, attracts scores of the best people daily. Mr. Lycurgus once kept a hotel in San Francisco and he knows how to cater to the public wants.

Arrived From San Francisco.

The American bark C. D. Bryant, Captain Fitzgerald, docked at Brewer's wharf yesterday afternoon, twelve days from San Francisco. She reports an uneventful passage and good weather all the way. The Albert was to sail in four days and fourteen vessels of the island sugar fleet was waiting their cargoes, unable to berth at the Sugar Refinery wharf.

HONORS TO CAPTAIN WILTSE.

The Councils Adopt Resolutions of Regret at His Death.

At the session of the Provisional Legislature yesterday the following resolutions were adopted:

The Executive and Advisory Councils of the Provisional Government of the Hawaiian Islands desire to express the profound regret with which they have heard of the sudden death of Captain G. C. Wiltse, U. S. N., and to testify to their high regard for his personal character and professional record. During his many years of active service he established a high reputation for courage, patriotism, fidelity and the qualities becoming an officer and a gentleman. His presence in command of the United States forces in Hawaiian waters during the critical period of our recent revolution, and his prompt and firm, yet just and considerate conduct in connection with the events thereof, commended him, not only to the confidence and friendship of his countrymen domiciled in this community, but of all the friends of peace, order and good government generally throughout these islands.

THE CIRCUIT COURT.

The Herring Murder Case Comes Before Judge Whiting.

In the Circuit Court the Provisional Government vs. Young Herry and Young Wai for gross cheat was being tried before Judge Cooper to day.

Attorney Ashford for C. A. Herring charged with murder of D. L. Huntsman submitted a plea before Judge Whiting that his client had not been regularly or legally indicted for such murder, and that Judge Cooper, before whom Herring was arraigned, did not possess any legal authority to officiate as Judge.

Antonio E. Souza of Honolulu was appointed guardian of J. R. Souza and M. R. Souza minors under $500 bond, and Ho San of Waiwai was appointed guardian of Kan Yee, son of Kai Chong of Hilo, Hawaii, under $2000 bond.

BEFORE HIS HONOR.

What Took Place at To-day's Session of the Police Court.

Three soldiers belonging to the regulars at the barracks—H. C. Merritt, A. S. Prescott and A. Dunsen—were arrested this morning by the police for carrying bludgeons.

It being spring, the fancies of Mary Kailiwo and F. Mariano seem to have lightly turned to thoughts of love. As Mary had no license for this she was fined $10, and Mariano $30 by the cruel and hard hearted police judge who termed the crime adultery this morning.

Rudolph Schreiber, alias "Chips," was examined by the Judge also, and, on the testimony of several who have suffered from his eccentricities of late, was adjudged insane and sent to the asylum.

MR. WALKER RETURNS.

He Has Done Good Work Abroad for the Information Bureau.

F. G. Eytan Walker, who has been in Japan since December last in the interests of the Hawaiian Bureau of Information, is a passenger by the Oceanic from Yokohama. He has secured nine tourists for a stay off the Oceanic, all of whom will pay a visit to the Volcano. Mr. Walker has distributed literature descriptive of the islands throughout Japan and China and advertised our attractions all over the Orient.

Well Known Here.

Donald Macleay, a prominent banker of Portland, Oregon, is a passenger en route to his home on the Oceanic from Yokohama. Mr. Macleay was one of the old pioneers in the merchant service between the islands and Portland in the '50s and '60s, owning and operating the fast clipper Jane and Falconberg, Mattie Macleay and others.

More Emigrants for Hawaii.

The Hawaiian Government is said to have communicated with the Japanese Government asking for the engagement of 1,700 more Japanese laborers. The mea to be engaged from Hiroshima, Yamaguchi and Fukuoka Prefectures, and to be despatched by the N. Y. K. steamer Mike Maru before the end of this month.—Japan Gazette.

En Route to England.

Col. and Mrs. O. N. Graham are passengers on the Oceanic en route to England. The Colonel has been stationed for some years in India with the British Army there.

Goes to Switzerland.

Louis Koch the chef of one of the leading hotels, goes to Switzerland, his native land, to marry a mountain lass whom he left behind him. Bon voyage Louis.

A Baron in Town.

Baron de Tuiyl, en route to San Francisco on the Oceanic, decided to stop over at Honolulu and pay a visit to the Volcano.

THE BIG STEAMER IN.

ARRIVAL OF THE OCEANIC IN THE HARBOR.

She Docks at the Pacific Wharf—No Trouble Coming In—The Vessel and Her Officers.

In order to fully describe the event, the STAR representative boarded the Oceanic along with the pilot, on her maiden entry into the harbor to day. The steamer was telephoned from Waianae at 10:20 o'clock this morning, but it was after eleven o'clock before Pilot Sheppard lowered his boat and pulled away for the then tiny speck of black smoke away out southwest. Port Physician Treussart, who with Health Agent McVigh was in his launch, gave the pilot boat a line when just in the channel and towed her towards the vessel which came booming along at a twenty mile an hour pace. At 12:30 noon, the gang plank of the steamer was lowered and all the flags unfurled, showing "all's well." There was some doubt as to whether Captain Smith of the Oceanic would accept the responsibility of taking his big ship in, but he did not hesitate when he found from the pilot that no breeze was blowing and a thirty-foot depth in a 200 feet wide channel could be obtained. So, at one o'clock, Dr. Treussart having declared a clean bill of health, the levathan again belched forth her clouds of smoke, and "full ahead," "hard a port," came from the pilot. Not a sign from the old pilot showed that he felt any trepidation at this feat in navigation, which was to declare us one of the first rate deep water harbors of the world. On the steamer hastened. The proper turns were made and in one half hour the Oceanic was abreast of the light house. Hawers were then run out from bow and stern and slowly but surely, bow to the east, the monster swung alongside the Pacific Dock easily as if she was a 200-tonner. The Oceanic is a British four-masted vessel, built by Holland and Wall, Belfast, in 1871, owned by the White Star Line, and chartered by the O. & O. S. S. Co. Her length is 430 feet, beam, 45 feet 6 inches, depth, 40 feet. Her tonnage is 3888 tons gr. 85, and 2440 tons net, and she draws 24 feet at present, with 3000 tons on board. Her officers are, W. M. Smith, K. N. R., captain; J. J. Lossing, chief officer; William Allen, chief engineer; E. O. Tuttle, purser, and James Maloney, M.D., surgeon. The leg of the Oceanic shows that she left Hong Kong April 20th at 2 o'clock P.M., and after stopping at Nagasaki and Kobe, arrived at Yokohama on the 27th at 3 o'clock P.M. Left Yokohama on the 29th at 10 A.M. For the first five days experienced strong north and northwest winds, the rest of the voyage being good weather. The steamer carries seventy-eight cabin and 470 stowage, including seven cabin, 141 Chinese stowage and sixteen Jap stowage for this city.

THE DYING HAWAIIANS.

The Status of the Polynesian Race in These Islands.

EDITOR STAR:—The Royalists clamor for the continued independence of Hawaii. We Hawaiian-born whites who seek annexation are denounced in every possible term of vituperation for betraying and selling out the native Hawaiians.

It is well to ask what is the actual status of this native Hawaiian race whose political independence is so sacred? What are their claims to have that independence override every other consideration of well-being to the other and more numerous people of Hawaii, and to that of the commerce of the Pacific, and to the political and commercial necessities of the United States? What evidence is there that political independence is for their own good and not quite the contrary?

Hawaii has enjoyed an independent government for about one hundred years. At the beginning of that period there were estimated to be about 200,000 natives. In forty years they had decreased to about 125,000, or 37 per cent. In the last half-century, they have been reduced to 57,135 in 1866, to 44,688 in 1878, and to 34,436 in 1890, or 72 per cent. During the last 24 years, the percentage of loss has been nearly 40 per cent, and during the last 12 years 22 per cent.

There is rather an acceleration in the dying out of the Hawaiian people. Native Hawaii is a very sick man. He is in a subject for promotion, farrago claims, or for resentful assertion of rights. He is an object of compassion, needing a guardian and merciful nursing and tending. A people that are wasting at the rate of nearly twenty per cent in every decade have no right to clamorous assertion of their independence. They need to be grateful for the friendly and just protection that is about to be extended over them. We believe that most of the intelligent natives accept this view, and rejoice in the prospect.

Their last show of claim to monarchy lapsed many years ago with the death of the last Alii (Kamehameha). Kamehameha and his family were of inferior race, as all know, and succeeded to the throne only by an election with the aid of foreigners' coin. Away, then, with this spurious sentiment of a right to sovereignty and independence as inherent in the native race, whose Aliis are all dead and who are themselves but a wasted remnant. Their one claim to consideration is, what will best promote the well-being and elevation of the native Hawaiians. This, I am prepared to demonstrate, will best be done under the aegis of the American constitution. The monarchy for the last thirty years has been increasingly the bane of the people.
